Marie-Alexandrine Bolzinger is Professor in the pharmaceutical technology department of the School of Pharmacy of Lyon (Université Claude Bernard Lyon1) and specialized in cosmetology and dermopharmacy.

Prof. Marie-Alexandrine Bolzinger was graduated as a pharmacist from the University of Paris Descartes in 1994. She obtained her PhD in Pharmaceutical sciences from the University Paris Descartes (1998). In 2002 she was recruited as assistant professor at the Faculty of Pharmacy of Lyon to teach Cosmetology. Simultaneously she joined the LAGEP (UMR-CNRS 5007) for its research in the cosmetic field. In 2004 she was promoted to the head of the cosmetic department for the teaching part and is responsible for the last year of the Master's degree in industrial cosmetology. She developed close partnership and collaboration with cosmetic companies either for teaching purposes than for research projects in the field of colloids and biopharmaceutical studies applied to the skin. She was involved in the managerial staff of 17 Ph.D students and she obtained her Habilitation à Diriger des Recherches (HDR) in 2009. She is full professor since 2014.
